About our StatelessnessINDEX

Our StatelessnessINDEX is a tool for civil society, decision-makers, researchers, the media, stateless people and others to quickly understand which areas of law and policy can be improved by European countries, and where we can look to for examples of good practice in addressing statelessness.

Launched in 2018, the Index holds comparative data and analysis for 32 countries, and next month we will be adding two more. With over 14,000 users in 2024 it continues to be an essential tool for raising awareness and focusing advocacy needed to end the cycle of statelessness in Europe.
